TODAY'S GOSPEL

'Master, I knew you to be a hard man, reaping where you did not sow, and gathering where you did not winnow; so I was afraid, and I went and hid your talent in the ground. Here you have what is yours.' But his master answered him, 'You wicked and slothful servant! You knew that I reap where I have not sowed, and gather where I have not winnowed? Then you ought to have invested my money with the bankers, and at my coming I should have received what was my own with interest. So take the talent from him, and give it to him who has the ten talents. For to every one who has will more be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who has not, even what he has will be taken away. And cast the worthless servant into the outer darkness."

Matthew 25:14-30

EL EVANGELIO DE HOY

'Señor, sé que eres un hombre duro, que cosechas donde no sembraste y recoges donde no esparciste. Por eso me dio miedo, y fui y escondí en tierra tu talento. Mira, aquí tienes lo que es tuyo'. Más su señor le respondió: 'Siervo malo y perezoso, sabías que yo cosecho donde no sembré y recojo donde no esparcí; debías, pues, haber entregado mi dinero a los banqueros, y así, al volver yo, habría cobrado lo mío con los intereses. Quitadle, por tanto, su talento y dádselo al que tiene los diez talentos. Porque a todo el que tiene, se le dará y le sobrará; pero al que no tiene, aun lo que tiene se le quitará. Y a ese siervo inútil, echadle a las tinieblas de fuera."

CATHOLIC HUMOR

GOSPEL REFLECTIONS

Do you have anything, says the Apostle, that you have not received? Therefore, beloved, let us not be greedy for our goods as if they belonged to us, but let us trade with them as with a loan. We have been entrusted with the administration and temporal use of the commons, not with the eternal possession of a private thing. If on earth you consider it yours only temporarily, you will be able to make it yours eternally in heaven. If you remember those employees of the gospel who received talents from their Lord and what the owner, on his return, gave to each one as a reward, you will recognize how much more advantageous it is to deposit money on the Lord's table to make it fruitful, than to keep it intact with sterile fidelity; You will understand that the money jealously preserved, without the slightest return for the owner, resulted for the negligent employee in an enormous waste and in an increase of his punishment.

Let us also remember that widow who, forgetting herself and concerned only with the poor, thinking only of the future, gave everything she had to live, as the judge himself testifies. The others, he says, have thrown in what they have left over; but the latter, poorer perhaps than many poor people, for her whole fortune was reduced to two reals, but in her heart more splendid than all the rich, placing her hope in the riches of eternal reward alone, and coveting for herself alone the heavenly treasures, renounced all the goods that come from the earth and return to the earth. He threw away what he had, in order to possess the invisible goods. He cast out the corruptible, that he might acquire the immortal. That poor little girl did not underestimate the means foreseen and established by God in order to obtain the future prize; That is why the lawgiver did not forget her either, and the arbiter of the world anticipated his sentence: in the Gospel he praises her who will crown in the judgment.

Let us therefore negotiate with the Lord with the same gifts of the Lord; we possess nothing that we have not received from him, without whose will we would not even exist. And above all, how can we consider something ours, we who, by virtue of an important and peculiar mortgage, do not belong to ourselves, and not only because we were created by God, but because we were redeemed by him?

Let us congratulate ourselves on having been bought at a great price, at the price of the Lord's own blood, and for that very reason we cease to be vile and venal persons, since the freedom of being free from justice is more vile than slavery itself. He who is thus free is a slave of sin and a prisoner of death. Let us, then, restore their gifts to the Lord; let us give to him, who receives in the person of every poor person; let us give, I insist, with joy, in order to receive from him the fullness of joy, as he himself has said.

St. Paulinus of Nola, Bishop
