Saint Patrick

This weekend highlights the celebration of the patron of the parish, St. Patrick. Our church community named in his honor has stood in Chatham since 1887 when Bishop Wigger raised the status of the church to parish level. Under its initial leader, Rev. Charles Muhl who was pastor for less than a year, a new worship community was formed. Later that year, Rev. Patrick A. McGahan was installed as pastor, and remained at the parish until 1889. His responsibilities as a pastor included service to a mission parish in Sterling that later became St. Vincent DePaul. St. Patrick Church maintains a long history, which includes twenty-two pastors. In that the Feast of St. Patrick falls on a Sunday, the liturgy of that day celebrates the 5th Sunday of Lent, however, the liturgy generates a spirit that connects us to St. Patrick as he was one who like Lazarus in this weekend's Gospel was raised from captivity to a life that has passed down the message of Christ to generations of people since the 5th century.

Although St. Patrick was not born in Ireland, he gained his reputation as a missionary to Ireland. Many in the parish have taken countless trips to Ireland to celebrate their Irish heritage. My initial trip to Ireland occurred in 1978. This was a tremendous thrill. My plane was delayed three hours from takeoff at JFK, but upon arrival I was transported to my hotel on O'Connell Street where I was introduced to a Guinness while waiting to check into my room. It was my first Guinness, and I enjoyed it so much that I ordered a second Guinness. Upon check in, the remainder of my day consisted of a stroll throughout Dublin whereby I took in the sights of the city; however, through my week's stay in Ireland, I realized that it was in the Irish pubs that I met the real beauty of Ireland, the people.

It is easy to see the joy that comes to so many on St. Patrick Day with festivities, parades, and friendly gatherings; even the parish celebrates an evening on March 16 to highlight our patron as well as an Irish soda bread contest on March 17. Yet, it must not be forgotten that a man named Patrick enhanced the faith of the Irish as a missionary, which ties in the life of Patrick with our Lenten commitments. Patrick also raised the standards of scholarship in Ireland, encouraged the study of Latin, and brought Ireland into closer relations with the rest of the Western World. Although many of the details of Patrick's life are uncertain; it is known that he took the name Patrick upon ordination to the priesthood. Most scholarship attests that he was also a Briton who was kidnapped at age 16 by Irish raiders, and sold as a slave which steered him to discover God in his life.

Many in Ireland celebrate this day with a visit to some of the sites where Patrick journeyed which include hilltops, vast mountains and exquisite mountain lakes. Ireland's holiest mountain, Croagh Patrick, nicknamed "The Reek" which is a soaring 2,507 ft. conical mountain near Westport, County Mayo is a location Patrick arrived after taking a forty-day retreat during Lent. Also, according to Patrick's autobiographical letter, Confessio, written around 450 AD, and published in the 9th century consists of information about the way Patrick fled from enslavement and studied in France to become a priest. The original copy of Confessio may be found in the Library of Trinity College, Dublin. Through the span of his life, Patrick spent over 30 years spreading the message of Christianity and founding churches and monasteries. He became the first Bishop of Armagh and Primate of all Ireland. Patrick retired in County Down, where it is believed he died in 461 AD on March 17, and is buried in the grounds of the 12th century Down Cathedral.

Many families and priests in the diocese trace their roots back to Ireland. Through the years the Irish are well known for involvement in people professions such as fireman, police, and priesthood. Sometimes it is common to forget that the United States was a mission for Irish priests who brought Christ to our land. Happy St. Patrick Day!

In Christ's Love,, Fr. Bob

Midshipmen Knights

Last month, seventeen midshipmen joined the Knights of Columbus council at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland.

Established in 2010, the council has thrived under the mentorship of retired Navy Capt. Joe McInerney. He says, "the knight is this idea that comes out of Christianity — to be ferocious in battle but a servant to others."

Service academy students have a more demanding schedule than most college students, but the council's evening discussion forums, focused on how the Catholic faith applies to contemporary times, offer a welcome reset after the busyness of the day.

McInerney says, "We are the hands and the feet and the muscle of our Lord Jesus Christ. It's time for us to start flexing that muscle so we can help others and start bringing others to faith in him."

To learn more about the Knights of Columbus in the Chathams, please call John Kelly 201-213-6967. To become a Knight, visit www.kofc.com/joinus.
