A Note from Fr. John

This Sunday we celebrate our annual Parish Picnic. As I am writing this, the weather forecast is still dicey. That's the nature of picnics, though, and I love it. Celebrating Mass in a tent is at best an ungainly venture. I sweat under layers of vestments, the wind blows out the candles, and we do our best to keep the ants off the credence table. It's the glorious messiness of community, removed from our pristine facilities and convenient amenities. It makes me feel closer to Jesus and the apostles. They didn't have some air conditioned church building. Did the sermon on the mount almost get rained out? When Jesus preached to the crowds on the shore of the Lake of Galilee, were the kids splashing in the water? We know they didn't always plan enough food for everyone, but Jesus took care of that.

In our Gospel this week, Jesus gives to Peter the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and promises that the gates of the netherworld shall not prevail against his Church. For all its messiness, it is in the community of the Church that we experience the joy of the kingdom, gathered with our brothers and sisters around the altar, singing the praise of the Lamb.

MESS

Una Nota del Fr. John

Este domingo celebramos nuestro picnic parroquial anual. Mientras estoy escribiendo esto, el pronóstico del tiempo es todavía incierto. Así son los picnics, y a mí me encanta la aventura. Celebrar la Misa bajo una carpa es, en el mejor de los casos, una tarea algo incómoda. Sudamos bajo las vestiduras litúrgicas, el viento apaga las velas y hacemos todo lo posible por mantener a las hormigas alejadas de la mesa credencial. Es el glorioso caos de la comunidad, lejos de nuestros templos impecables y comodidades prácticas. Me hace sentir más cerca de Jesús y de los apóstoles. Ellos no tenían un edificio con aire acondicionado. ¿Estuvo a punto de arruinarse el Sermón de la Montaña por la lluvia? Cuando Jesús predicaba a las multitudes a orillas del lago de Galilea, ¿había niños chapoteando en el agua? Sabemos que no siempre calculaban suficiente comida para todos, pero Jesús se arregló eso.

En el Evangelio de esta semana, Jesús entrega a Pedro las llaves del Reino de los Cielos y promete que las puertas del infierno no prevalecerán contra su Iglesia. A pesar del caos, es en la comunidad de la Iglesia donde experimentamos la alegría del Reino, reunidos con nuestros hermanos y hermanas alrededor del altar, cantando las alabanzas del Cordero.
