A Note from the Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

Two weeks ago, in these notes, I announced that newly ordained Fr. John Ippolito has been assigned to our parish for his first full-time assignment beginning on June 15th. I also mentioned that we had no word of any other clergy assignments affecting our parish. That has changed.

Earlier this week, Fr. Zachary and I were informed that he is being transferred to St. James Parish in Carmel. Fr. Zachary's new assignment begins on July 1st. Almost like clockwork, newly ordained priests here for a first assignment are transferred on the day of their third anniversary in the parish. (I am referring to Fr. Jeffrey Pomeisl, Fr. John Wilson, Fr. Christian Amah, Fr. Ryan Muldoon and now Fr Zachary Alspaugh, to name the ones I remember). It is always sad to have to say Farewell to priests whom we come to know and appreciate so much, but the Church has a wisdom in transferring priests to serve and come to know other parts of the Lord's vineyard. There are undoubtedly pros and cons to the practice but it has been this way for quite some time. We can at least certainly say that we have been blessed by the priestly presence of many recently ordained men over the years.

In addition to welcoming Fr. Ippolito, we should keep him in our prayers as he comes to know and serve the people in the parish. Likewise, we should pray for Fr. Zachary as he prepares to take on his new role in Carmel. He will be here for two more weekends so we have a while to wish him well but we will also have a Farewell Hospitality Reception on June 28th after the 9:15am Mass. It is important to find a way to say thank you and so-long to Father Zachary. He did not know the parish before he arrived but I think it goes without saying that he now knows us rather well and that he is a part of our parish life. We will miss him but we take heart in the fact that he will continue to bless people with his priestly heart.

Sincerely in Christ,
