From the Pastor's Desk

This Saturday, November 1, we celebrate the feast of All Saints, that is, all our predecessors in the faith who are in the heavenly realm. Some of the great saints reach perfection during life and it was easy for them to make it to heaven. The problem is that goal in their life was very difficult. All were filled with the love of God and carried Jesus in their heart and made Him known to others. Some were martyrs who courageously gave testimony to the love of God with their very lives. Others had to really work for it after death in purgatory. Who are these? I don't know but I pray that those that I know and love may be in that number, so they can make it to heaven. And that I, by the infinite mercy of God may be able to join them. I know that I deserve hell, but I hope that the Lord will have mercy on me.

It is these less perfect souls that we remember and pray for on Sunday, November 2, All Soul's day. These are the souls that were not quite perfect and need a bit more work. It is by the mercy of God that this place of purification is offered to the faithful. There are those who do not believe in purgatory. It seems to me that they limit the mercy of God. What is the alternative? Either you are predestined to Heaven or predestined to Hell. Your good deeds during life are worthless and it's only by a cosmic lottery that you make it into heaven. It is not merciful nor logical. The third alternative is that there is nothing. Good luck with that.

In the Book of Wisdom (3:5-6) we read: "Chastised a little, they shall be greatly blessed, because God tried them and found them worthy of himself. As gold in the furnace, he proved them, and as sacrificial offerings he took them to himself." That is our hope and our prayer for the souls in purgatory and for ourselves that God will take us to Himself into his Heavenly Kingdom to enjoy his heavenly delights.

Este sábado, 1 de noviembre, celebramos la fiesta de Todos los Santos, es decir, todos los que hayan muerto en la fe que están en el reino celestial. Algunos de los grandes santos alcanzaron la perfección en la vida y les fue fácil llegar al cielo. El problema es que esa meta en su vida fue muy difícil. Todos estaban llenos del amor de Dios, llevaron a Jesús en su corazón y lo dieron a conocer a los demás. Algunos fueron mártires que valientemente dieron testimonio del amor de Dios con sus propias vidas. Otros tuvieron que esforzarse mucho para lograrlo después de la muerte, en el purgatorio. ¿Quiénes son estos? No lo sé, pero rezo para los que conozco y amo que hayan muerto estén entre ellos, para que puedan llegar al cielo. Y que yo, por la infinita misericordia de Dios, pueda unirme a ellos. Sé que merezco el infierno, pero espero que el Señor tenga misericordia de mí.

Son estas almas menos perfectas las que recordamos y por las que oramos el domingo 2 de noviembre, Día de los Fieles Difuntos. Estas son las almas que no fueron del todo perfectas y necesitan un poco más de trabajo. Es por la misericordia de Dios que este lugar de purificación se ofrece a los fieles. Hay quienes no creen en el purgatorio. Me parece que limitan la misericordia de Dios. ¿Cuál es la alternativa? O estás predestinado al Cielo o al Infierno. Tus buenas obras en vida no valen nada y solo por una lotería cósmica llegas al cielo. No es ni misericordioso ni lógico. La tercera alternativa es que no hay nada. ¡Mucha suerte con eso!

En el Libro de la Sabiduría (3:5-6) leemos: "Después de breves sufrimientos recibirán una abundante recompensa, pues Dios los puso a prueba y los halló dignos de sí. Los probó como oro en el crisol y los aceptó como un holocausto agradable." Esa es nuestra esperanza para las almas del purgatorio y para nosotros: que Dios nos lleve consigo. Esa es nuestra esperanza y nuestra oración por las almas del purgatorio y por nosotros mismos: que Dios nos lleve consigo a su Reino Celestial para disfrutar de los deleites celestiales.

Seasons Change But the Horizon Stands Firm

Living as we do here in New Jersey, in the temperate zone of our hemisphere, we have the pleasure of seeing the various beauties of the changing seasons. The delicacy of spring blossoms into the richness of summer, which is followed by the variegated palette of autumn and then mellows into the stillness of winter. This pageant of the landscape reminds us of the passing of time and also of the fragility of our life. The seasons change without our permission, and we are reminded that however long we live amid the landscape that we see, "we have here no lasting home," as the writer of the Letter to the Hebrews reminds us. That reminder should be taken to heart, for the landscape that we see, however much its appearance may change, is still the same landscape. The hills remain in place and the sky above them changes in appearance but does not move. There is something stable and permanent about the land that we see in spite of its shifting colors. Stable, but still alive and growing. There is a permanency amid the changes, just as there is a permanency amid the changes in our own life. Deep down within me, I am still the same "I" that I was as a child, as a youth, as a grown up, and that person was created to find unending peace and beauty in God's love. That desire is embedded so deeply within me that nothing can uproot it, and amid the changing landscape and personal changes it is still there because God put it within me to draw me to Himself as steel to a magnet. Thinking about that, I realize that all changes exist for that one end: to bring me through all shifting seasons to the timelessness of God's love.

Las estaciones cambian, pero el horizonte se mantiene firme

Viviendo como vivimos aquí en Nueva Jersey, en la zona templada de nuestro hemisferio, tenemos el placer de contemplar la belleza de las estaciones. La delicadeza de la primavera florece en la riqueza del verano, seguida por la paleta abigarrada del otoño y luego se suaviza en la quietud del invierno. Este espectáculo del paisaje nos recuerda el paso del tiempo y también la fragilidad de nuestra vida. Las estaciones cambian sin nuestro permiso, y nos recuerdan que, por mucho que vivamos en medio del paisaje que vemos, «no tenemos aquí un hogar permanente», como nos recuerda el autor de la Carta a los Hebreos. Este recordatorio debe tomarse en serio, pues el paisaje que vemos, por mucho que cambie su apariencia, sigue siendo el mismo. Las colinas permanecen en su lugar y el cielo sobre ellas cambia de apariencia, pero no se mueve. Hay algo estable y permanente en la tierra que vemos a pesar de sus colores cambiantes. Estable, pero aún viva y en crecimiento. Hay una permanencia en medio de los cambios, así como la hay en medio de los cambios en nuestra propia vida. En lo más profundo de mí, sigo siendo el mismo "yo" que fui de niño, de joven, de adulto, y esa persona fue creada para encontrar paz y belleza eternas en el amor de Dios. Ese deseo está tan arraigado en mí que nada puede desarraigarlo, y en medio del panorama cambiante y los cambios personales, sigue ahí porque Dios lo puso en mí para atraerme hacia sí como el acero a un imán. Al pensar en eso, me doy cuenta de que todos los cambios existen con un solo fin: llevarme a través de todas las estaciones cambiantes hacia la atemporalidad del amor de Dios.
